

The Adoption Process

Welcome/Intake

We invite you to call the office nearest you to schedule a consultation. This first meeting gives us a chance to get to know each other. You'll learn more about adoption and our agency, and we'll learn more about you and your expectations. We will explain the adoption process and guide you toward the domestic or international program that best matches your needs.

Completing an Application

When you are ready you will complete the application form and submit it to us with the application fee. Once we receive these materials, we will assign a social worker to your adoption who will contact you to schedule your first home study meeting.

Home Study

Your social worker will support and advise you throughout the entire adoption process. Your social worker will also compile your home study - a report that is required before you can adopt a child. The home study is based on a variety of information including required paperwork, interviews with your family, and social worker's visits to your home.

Adoption Education

MAPS offers an excellent adoption education course for all prospective adoptive parents. During this class you'll discuss a wide variety of adoption related topics and learn about the support resources available to you. This course also offers opportunities to discuss your questions and concerns while meeting other waiting families.

Placement

If you choose to adopt through our domestic program, you will also need to create a profile - a letter illustrated with photos that tells prospective birthparents a little about you, your home, and your lifestyle.

If you choose to adopt through one of our international programs, you'll need to compile a dossier - an authenticated set of documents required by each country. A MAPS program coordinator, who has expertise about adoption and legal requirements in a particular country, will work closely with you throughout the process.

After your home study is completed, you will be ready to be matched with a child. If you adopt through our domestic program, you will be selected by a birthmother and then wait for the birth of your baby. If you adopt through one of our international programs, we will inform you when you receive a child referral. Wait times vary depending on which country you chose to adopt from. When you accept a child referral, you'll then wait for a travel date - the day you'll go abroad to bring your child home. In all adoptions we know the waiting is difficult - especially when you're waiting for someone so important. Your social worker understands your feelings and will be there to provide any support you may need.

Post-Placement

Your child is home! During the next six months or so, your social worker will visit you to make sure that your family is adjusting well. Post-placement recognition visits are required for both domestic and international adoptions and they must be completed prior to the finalization process. These visits also give you a chance to ask questions, share concerns, and show off your child!

Agency Requirements

To adopt through MAPS you must:

- Be at least 25 years old and typically not more than 45 years older than the child you seek to adopt. Actual age requirements depend on the program or country you chose to adopt from.
- Be in good physical, emotional, and mental health; and be able to parent a child.
- Have established and maintained a stable homelife for at least two years.
- Have a complete and current home study by a licensed agency that meets state requirements for domestic adoptions, or the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) requirements for international adoptions.
- Meet additional requirements specific to your program of choice.

Agency Services

HOME STUDY

The home study is a requirement of all adoptions and enables MAPS to assess and prepare each family for adoption. In states where MAPS is licensed to provide home study services, one of our experienced social workers will work closely with you to gain a better understanding of your expectations and unique needs. They will serve as a consistent source of support for you throughout, and following, the process. The MAPS home study staff will help you prioritize the required paperwork and will answer questions that arise as you are completing it. When your home study is complete, we will also submit and monitor your application to the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services on your behalf. If you do not live in one of the states in which we offer home study services, we will help you find a suitable home study agency near you.

The home study is the time for MAPS to help you prepare for the challenges that are distinct to adoptive parenting. To supplement your home study, we will also help prepare you through our adoption education class. This stage is considered the first stop along the adoption journey and requires you to open your hearts and home to follow the path towards parenting. You will be glad you did.

PROGRAM PLACEMENT SERVICES

MAPS has placed over 4000 children worldwide with loving, permanent families.* Whether you complete your home study through a MAPS regional office or with one of our valued partner agencies, we are able to work with families throughout the U.S. to facilitate the placement of a child.

Families should be aware that adoption is complex and involves many variables and some inherent risks. Despite MAPS' best efforts and years of experience, in rare cases circumstances beyond our control may affect the adoption process or the outcome. For example, a government may unexpectedly change the adoption requirements or even close its adoption program, an adoption could be denied by a court or other bureaucratic body, or a birthparent might change her mind about relinquishment. While these scenarios are unusual, it is important to know that these risks do exist, and that MAPS will support our clients in exploring other options should such a situation arise.

* Annual statistics for children placed through each program are available upon request.

POST PLACEMENT SERVICES

Adopting through MAPS means becoming part of a lifelong support network. In the initial months after placement, your social worker will visit with you during your adjustment period to answer any questions, provide support services, and walk you through the post placement process. We also help families to network with each other through local events and will always be available to serve as your primary resource for adoption support.

MAPS Domestic Infant Adoption Programs

Domestic Program

Through the domestic program we work with women that have decided to make an adoption plan for their children and would like to personally select the family. In making this decision they are seeking caring families willing to love and parent these new lives. We will work with you and the birthparent(s) to provide counseling and support services to create an ideal birth plan for everyone involved. We are committed to responsible preparation and support for the adoptive parents, the birth parents, and the children. Families participating in these programs must complete their home study through a MAPS regional office. This program is specialized to working with pregnant women typically within the state of Maine. Occasionally, we also work directly with pregnant women residing in other states throughout the U.S.

MAPS International Adoption Fees

There are typically three basic fees when adopting internationally – the application fee, the agency fee, and the foreign program fee, which is specific to the country from which you will be adopting.

The MAPS fees listed below are effective as of November 7, 2008 and are subject to change.

APPLICATION FEE: $600

The application fee is due with the application materials. It covers the review of application materials and assessment of prospective adoptive applicant for a specified international program.

AGENCY FEE: $6,300 – 10,500

This fee is due when a family has been formally accepted into a MAPS international program; for certain programs this fee may be paid in two separate installments. The agency fee covers state-side MAPS professional and administrative costs incurred in providing adoption services. These include, but are not limited to: assisting with dossier preparation, coordination with in-country representatives and entities such as government officials or bureaucratic bodies, liaison for information regarding child assignment, travel preparation, and the costs associated with general agency overhead.

The agency fee for China, Russia, Kazakhstan, and Peru: $6,300. For Nepal: $9,000. For India: $10,500. For Nepal and India programs, there is an additional component of the agency fee (Nepal: $2,700 and India: $5,200) that is used for adoption program expenses and humanitarian aid in these countries. The agency fees for the India and Nepal programs are greater than that of the other programs due to the higher staffing pattern and cost of operations for these programs, which include a MAPS' employee in India. Approximately 30-40% of a combination of the India agency fee and foreign program fee, may be designated for humanitarian aid purposes. Of the $10,500 agency fee, approximately 80% is used for stateside adoption program expenses; of the $7,000 foreign program fee, approximately 80% is used for the in-country adoption processing expenses, which include the CARA approved orphanage donation of $3,500 and in-country administrative/operational expenses.

*There is a non-resident fee of $1,000 for families residing outside the continental U.S. This is due with the agency fee.

FOREIGN PROGRAM FEE: $3,650 – 19,000

This fee is country-specific and covers most in-country expenses related to the processing of your adoption, e.g. administrative costs such as shipping, communications, filing fees, etc. This fee is generally due following child acceptance; exception is Kazakhstan for which program it is due prior to travel. Please refer to individual country page or packet for information regarding when foreign program fees are due.

Country Program	Foreign Program Fee
China	$3,650
India	$7,000
Kazakhstan	$19,000 We are not accepting applications for Kazakhstan at this time
Nepal	$12,300
Peru	$7,500
Russia	$14,750

Fees associated with international adoption programs may be used for special projects, cultural events and/or humanitarian aid projects. More specific information will be made available upon request.

Dossier and post-placement translation and processing fees are included in the foreign program fees listed above, with the exception of China ($1,640), Peru ($1,000), Russia ($1,500) and Kazakhstan ($2,000). All authentication and processing fees are the responsibility of the client and vary depending on country.

Not included in the foreign program fee are mandatory orphanage donations for China ($3000, may be up to $5000 in some provinces) and Kazakhstan ($300). Kazakhstan also has an Embassy family registration fee of $180. The Russia program requires a refundable post-placement deposit of $1,000.

TRAVEL FEES

Clients will be responsible for their travel expenses, as well as their child's travel and visa processing expenses (i.e. medical exam, passport photos, visa application).

ESCORT FEES

We offer an escort option for Kazakhstan. If the escort option is chosen, payment must be received 3-4 weeks prior to travel. For Kazakhstan the escort fee is $6,000 from Almaty to the U.S. (an additional $1,150 is applicable if a child is from a region outside Almaty) and includes the escort's round trip flight, lodging and meals for escort and child, the escort's visa, medical insurance for both escort and child, the child's visa application fee, and the child's flight to the U.S. The family is responsible for booking and the cost of a hotel for the escort to stay before returning to Kazakhstan from the U.S. Escorts for India are available on a case-by-case basis; the fee is $4,000 and covers the same as noted above, with the child's airfare being additional.

REDUCED FEES

Returning MAPS families receive a reduction of $650 from their agency fee. MAPS offers reduced fees for adoption of sibling groups (see program pages for specifics). Additionally, pending approval of the Executive Director, MAPS may reduce fees in special cases.

REFUNDS

The application fee and agency fee are non-refundable; however, they are transferable among MAPS adoption programs. If a prospective adoptive family should change from one program to another, they are responsible for any difference in fees (e.g., agency fee, foreign program fee, extra expenses, etc.). If a country program closes after a child has been assigned, the foreign program fee will be returned - less any expenses that have already been incurred by MAPS. If a family withdraws for any reason, the fees they have paid to MAPS are non-refundable. In the event that the prospective adoptive parents are accepted by USCIS, their home study agency, and MAPS, but are rejected in the foreign country by any bureaucratic body, at any stage of the process, or in court, there will be no refund of fees. If unique circumstances arise, they will be reviewed by the Executive Director on a case-by-case basis.

ADDITIONAL EXPENSES

There are additional expenses associated with adoption programs that are separate from the application, agency, and foreign program fees. For an estimate on the anticipated costs associated with a specific international adoption program, please refer to the individual country packets or call MAPS for assistance.

India has a long history of adoption to the United States. For over a decade MAPS has worked with a multitude of wonderful orphanages countrywide to place children in caring homes. Indian parents do adopt in increasing numbers; nevertheless, there are many more children needing families.

CHILDREN: Infants, toddlers, and school age children. Siblings are possible but are usually older. Each child is unique and most of the children are healthy; some children with special needs are available.Currently accepting applications from families requesting non special needs children over 4 years old or children under 4 years old with special needs. Contact us for further information as needed.

FAMILY REQUIREMENTS: Couples and single women may apply. For couples: combined age of 90 or under, minimum age of 30, maximum age of 55. Qualified families requesting infants must be open to children up to 18 months of age at time of referral.

Wait times for special needs children vary and some waiting children are available for referral immediately. Nepal

Nepal is a spectacular country, both geographically and culturally. Adoptions from Nepal are occurring in greater numbers than ever before. The Social Welfare Committee issues a final adoption decree for Nepalese children. Due to political turmoil and instability within the Nepalese government, adoption processing timeframes may change. MAPS works closely with the State Department and U.S. Embassy in Kathmandu to monitor advisories for traveling families.

CHILDREN: Healthy children of both genders, from 10 months to middle school age, are available. Sibling groups and twins are not available. Basic medical information is provided at the time of child referral. Photo(s) available after formal acceptance of the child.

FAMILY REQUIREMENTS: Couples with documented infertility and single women are accepted. The minimum age, for couples, is 30 years old and for infants there should not be more than 45 years between the youngest parent and the child (some flexibility possible). Singles need to be between 35 and 55 years. Couples must be married at least 4 years. If there are child(ren) in the home, families must maintain birth order and adopt a child of the opposite gender. Families cannot have children of both genders already in the home.

TIME FRAME: A child referral, after dossier submission, typically takes 6-8 months for an infant, 0-3 months for a child over the age of 3. Dossier preparation only includes notarization of documents. Administrative and judicial processing takes approximately 6 months after referral and travel follows quickly.

TRAVEL: One or both parents must travel. One trip is required, which ranges from 10 days to 2 weeks.

FOREIGN PROGRAM FEE: The MAPS Nepal foreign program fee is $12,300 (payable upon acceptance of child assignment). Peru

MAPS became licensed to place children from Peru on August 15, 2003. It was with great anticipation and enthusiasm that we launched this program because there are many children in need of permanent homes.

CHILDREN: Primarily toddlers, but also older children, special needs, and sibling groups are available. Their heritage may be Hispanic, Indian, or Mestizo (a blend of Spanish and Indian ancestry).

FAMILY REQUIREMENTS: Adoptive parents must be at least 25 years old and no older than 55; couples and singles may apply. Age guidelines: Couples under 40 (average of combined ages) may request children aged 3 and under; couples with average age 41-50 may request children 4-6, couples with average age 51-55 must be open to children 7 or older. Single women can request a child that is 5 or older, or a younger child with special needs. Single men may request a child 6 or older. There may be other children in the household.

Families who reside in MA, ME, NH or VT must have a MAPS home study. Residents of the following states must work with the MIMDES-licensed agency in their own state for placement and home study: AL, CA, CT, DC, FL, GA, HI, IA, MD, MN, NC, NJ, NY, PA, SC, VA, WA, WI.

TIME FRAME: Dossiers are submitted to MIMDES (Ministerio de la Mujery Desarrollo Social or Ministry for Women and Social Development). MIMDES assigns a child (infant or toddler) to the adoptive family generally within 12 -18 months. Referral time for children 5 years and older and sibling groups is generally 4-5 months. Travel will follow approximately 2 weeks following assignment.

TRAVEL: Adoptive parents must travel. Total trip is approximately 3-4 weeks. For couples, one parent may return to the U.S. one week early (after completion of the Peru adoption processing).

FOREIGN PROGRAM FEE: The MAPS Peru foreign program fee is $7,500 (payable prior to travel to Peru). For a second sibling adopted simultaneously the foreign program fee is $3,500.

Other expenses to plan for:

Immigration application (I800A)	$750

Russia

In March of 1991, MAPS became the first American agency to work directly in cooperation with the Russian government. Our first children arrived home in October of that year and since then, we have placed over 1,000 children in loving families.

CHILDREN: Infants, toddlers, and school age children, including sibling groups, are available. Most are healthy but some have minor health problems. Children are tested for Hep B, HIV, and syphilis. Childless families may request boys but not girls, unless requesting a child over age 5 and/or with special needs. Families with a boy may request a girl 0-4 years if willing to wait at least 12 months for child referral.

FAMILY REQUIREMENTS: Couples and singles are accepted. There cannot be more than 45 years between the youngest parent (preferably mother) and the child.

From the time a family is registered in Russia, an invitation to travel (to meet an offered child) takes approximately 2–8 months for boys under 2 and at least 12 months for girls under 5. Special needs children, school age children, and older sibling groups may be available with minimal wait.

TIME FRAME: The 1st trip typically is made 2-4 weeks after the travel invitation is received; and the 2nd trip is about 3-9 months after dossier is sent to Russia.

TRAVEL REQUIREMENTS: Two trips are required for both parents. The 1st trip is about 1 week and the 2nd trip will be about 3 ½ weeks, unless the 10-day waiting period is waived, in which case it will be about 2 weeks in length. MAPS will arrange your travel and accommodations within Russia. In rare circumstances a third trip may be necessary. Our bilingual coordinator will greet and assist you during your stay.

FOREIGN PROGRAM FEE: The MAPS Russia foreign program fee is $14,750 (payable upon acceptance of child assignment). Typically 90% of this fee covers in-country adoption program expenses/services, 10% may be used for humanitarian aid in-country. For a sibling adopted simultaneously, the foreign program fee is $8,000 ($2,500 for stateside adoption program expenses/services and $5,500 for in-country adoption processes). For additional siblings adopted simultaneously the foreign program fee is $1,500 per child. There is also a refundable post-placement deposit (payable before first trip) of $1,000.*
